The Changing Face of...

Format: 9 x 52 (HD)

A glittering celebrity biography series with a twist: telling the incredible stories of A-listers who have changed their image and style to keep themselves in the spotlight across the decades. With unique access to the key image-makers behind icons from Madonna and Elizabeth Taylor to the Queen, the series explores the amazing life stories of these highly talented and inventive celebrities.

The Changing Face of the Queen

Format: 1 x 47 (HD)

Queen Elizabeth II is the most iconic woman in the world. This is the story of her remarkable life from her carefree childhood in Windsor Castle and romance with Prince Philip, to her coronation and reign over a rapidly changing Britain. In the sixty years since this petite, softly-spoken woman came to the throne, her style has defined the image of the British monarchy across the world.

The Changing Face of Elizabeth Taylor

Format: 1 x 52 (HD)

Elizabeth Taylor was a child star brought up and schooled on the MGM lot. As a pioneer and icon, her story has been at the heart of all the biggest changes in celebrity culture: the arrival of the jet set, the paparazzi, the first actress to earn $1million dollars, the first to launch a signature perfume and the first to campaign on behalf of AIDS.

The Changing Face of Arnold Schwarzenegger

Format: 1 x 52 (HD)

A classic rags-to-riches story – the American dream come true. From a poor family in Austria, Arnie became a champion body-builder and Mr. Universe. It gave him a ticket to America where he starred in a movie and married a Kennedy before conquering Hollywood, creating a series of new identities for himself: athlete, actor, governor.

The Changing Face of Madonna

Format: 1 x 52 (HD)

Madonna is the mistress of re-invention and understands the power of the visual image. From her 'Boy Toy' days via the 'Material Girl', to her latest incarnation as a movie director, she has never lost the ability to shock, grabbing headlines and selling records, books and films. Unique access to her entourage reveals what makes Madonna's ever-changing image always relevant to the times.

The Changing Face of Elton John

Format: 1 x 52 (HD)

Elton John is rock royalty. From mild-mannered piano player to dazzling sequin-clad showman, he's frequently changed not just the way he looks, but his way of life too. He's been straight, bisexual and gay, a shopaholic, workaholic and cocaine addict and then in 2010, a father. From massive specs and spandex to Versace suits and wigs: Elton is an international institution.

The Changing Face of Liza Minnelli

Format: 1 x 52 (HD)

Liza Minnelli was born into Hollywood royalty – the daughter of Vincente Minnelli and Judy Garland, but life hasn’t been easy. Though highly talented, she struggled to emerge from her mother’s shadow. After Broadway success and an Oscar, she was recognised as a star in her own right, but the hedonistic days of New York’s Studio 54 and many disastrous relationships left their mark.

The Changing Face of Joan Collins

Format: 1 x 52 (HD)

How did a young, serious drama student become the starlet Joan Collins? Her varied career has spanned film, TV and literature whilst her private life left her labelled ‘The British Open’ for her promiscuity in her younger years. Starring on the cover of Playboy at 40, she became an international icon playing Alexis Colby on the long running classic soap, Dynasty.

The Changing Face of George Michael

Format: 1 x 52 (HD)

From chart topping hits to being the youngest ever recipient of the Ivor Novello Award, George Michael’s success was astronomical. But it was his knack for reinvention which kept him in the public consciousness. Following his untimely death in 2017, discover how he became a bonafide superstar, and how he secured himself a legacy as a pop titan.

The Changing Face of Barry Manilow

Format: 1 x 52 (HD)

This shy Brooklyn boy became the biggest selling recording artist of the 1970s, with 10 number one singles in the Billboard charts. He’s weathered storms of critical derision and confounded the reviewers by remaining one of the most popular singers of a generation, with millions of fans and continuing sell out shows across the world.

INNOVATION NATION + WITH MO ROCCA

Innovation Nation, Seasons 1-8

Format: 104 x 22 (HD)

Broadcaster: CBS

A true celebration of the inventor's spirit – from the ingenious scientific pioneers of the past to the cutting-edge visionaries of today. Each episode of this Emmy Award-winning series tells the dramatic stories behind the world's greatest inventions – and the perseverance, passion and price required to bring these visions to life.

Smart Cities

Format: 8 x 23 (HD)

Broadcaster: Channel NewsAsia

Over half the world's population live in cities, and this is a growing trend. How can cities become smarter to manage urban density and environmental issues? Eco-architect Jason Pomeroy travels to eight of the world's smartest cities to find out – from control centres in Korea and Amsterdam's carbon neutral football stadium, to Singapore's big data solutions.

Futureproof

Format: 9 x 24 (HD)

Broadcaster: BTVI

This brand new series investigates how advances in science and technology are changing our lives and the way we do business. From cryptocurrencies to automated delivery bots, artificial intelligence in healthcare to gene editing technology, each episode unveils the cutting edge inventions that are going to change our world forever.

SCIENCE & ENVIRONMENT

The Big Idea

Format: 8 x 22 (HD) & 1 x 46 (HD)
Broadcaster: Channel NewsAsia

What are the latest advances in science and technology that could impact all our lives? From companion robots in Japan and enhancing human running speed in the USA, to UK scientists making people smarter, and a special episode on car safety technology in Sweden and Germany, Justin Bratton investigates the world's Big Ideas.

Faster than Light: Dream of Interstellar Flight

Format: 1 x 52 (HD, 4K)

Our galaxy is filled with billions of stars, some orbited by earth-like planets. But in the race to find other habitable worlds, one question remains: how will we get there? From nuclear fusion to the power of black holes, anti-matter to warp-drive, discover the technology that will fuel the next space race, and the mind-bending physics building the light-speed rockets of the future.

Journey to the Pale Red Dot

Format: 1 x 45 (HD)

The search for planets beyond our solar system has brought an historic discovery: a planet slightly larger than Earth orbiting a star called Proxima Centauri. At just over 40 trillion kilometres from the Sun, Proxima Centauri is our closest stellar neighbour. Does its planet have a climate, or even life? What will it take to launch our first interstellar journey to the Pale Red Dot?

Mechanical Monsters

Format: 1 x 60 (HD, 4K)
Broadcaster: BBC

Historian Simon Schaffer investigates the origins of our love-hate relationship with technology through some of the most extraordinary engineering wonders of the 19th century. These fantastical, formidable inventions posed questions at the time that still resonate today - will the machines we build save us, replace us, or even destroy us?

Voyage of Curiosity

Format: 1 x 52 / 1 x 90 (HD)

Marking the 5th anniversary of the Curiosity Rover's historic Mars landing, relive every step of its voyage from launch to nail-biting descent, and the unbelievable discoveries it made on the Red Planet's surface. With unprecedented access to NASA labs, discover how scientists are getting closer than ever to Mars' surface. But will they be the first living beings to get there?

Kingdom of Saturn

Format: 1 x 52 / 1 x 90 (HD)

For the 20th anniversary of the launch of NASA's Cassini spacecraft, and featuring footage beamed back to earth by infrared cameras, uncover the secrets of Saturn's moons, and Cassini's role in our search for extraterrestrial life. After a 4 billion kilometer voyage, this is the definitive account of Cassini's legacy, and of her death-dive to the surface of Saturn.

Cosmic Journeys

Format: 18 x Multiple Shorts (HD, 4K)

What is it like to live aboard the International Space Centre? Is there life on Mars? What has space exploration taught us about the future of our own fragile planet? Find out the answer to these questions and more in this stunning collection of 4K UHD short-form journeys across our galaxy and beyond. Perfect for broadcast interstitials, online viewing, and in the classroom.

The Age of Hubble

Format: 1 x 25 (4K), 1 x 50 (HD)

This stunning programme showcases an army of high-tech telescopes capturing photons from distant corners of the universe. State-of-the-art animation and supercomputer simulations bring the most cutting-edge findings of modern astronomy to life – from a super-massive black hole 350 million lightyears away to the stunning beauty of the Orion Nebula.

Secrets of the Universe

Format: 2 x 24 (4K), 8 x 24 (HD)

Epic black holes, nuclear furnaces in giant stars, volcanic pressure cookers inside planets – this groundbreaking series follows a trail of energy into the power centres of the Universe. Through state of the art animations based on scientific data and supercomputer simulations, dive into the heart of a black hole, fly across alien planets, and travel the surface of a star about to explode!

Hubble's Enduring Legacy

Format: 1 x 50 (HD)

For over 26 years, the Hubble Telescope has returned images of a dynamic and violent universe. Hubble's Enduring Legacy brings these iconic images to life - colliding galaxies, the birth and death of stars and distant planets. By decoding these stunning pictures, we are learning how galaxies are formed, what dark matter is and about our own place in the cosmos

Moon Shots

Format: 1 x 57 (HD, 4K)

Moon Shots is the real story of NASA's Moon Missions, from Apollo 1 to Apollo 17, told for the first time using 4K and HD original footage taken by astronauts from the most iconic space voyages in history: images of space-craft interiors, of the surface of the moon and the first images of the earth itself. This film pays tribute to the extraordinary history of space travel.

Seeing the Beginning of Time

Format: 1 x 50 (HD, 4K)

A cutting-edge film based on the work of scientists opening a powerful new window into deep space. Using high-tech telescopes we can now capture light across wide swathes of the universe and channel a vast flow of cosmic data into supercomputer models to probe the forces and events that shaped it. What can we learn about the origin of galaxies like the Milky Way, and of worlds like our own?

Solar Superstorms

Format: 1 x 25 (4K), 1 x 49 (HD)

Solar Superstorms is a major new production that takes viewers into the tangle of magnetic fields and superhot plasma that vent the Sun's rage in dramatic flares, violent solar tornadoes, and the largest eruptions in the solar system: Coronal Mass Ejections. What's driving these strange phenomena? How will they affect planet Earth? Find the answers as we venture into the seething interior of the sun.

Eclipse Chasers

Format: 1 x 50 (HD)
Broadcaster: National Geographic Channel

Filmed during an eclipse on the remote Easter Island in the South Pacific, Eclipse Chasers explores the remarkable phenomenon of a total solar eclipse. Featuring leading international scientists, it shows how data collected during a total eclipse plays a key role in the race to understand the sun and its impact on earth.

Ultimate Aurora

Format: 1 x 50 (HD)

Ultimate Aurora follows an intrepid team of scientists on their quest to develop a new type of rocket engine. Their aim is to revolutionise space travel and exploration, by harnessing the energy contained in the dynamic fourth state of matter: plasma. From dramatic balloon launches on mountain glaciers, to spectacular imagery inside the Sun, this is a film about striking out to new frontiers.

The Mystery of Matter

Format: 3 x 55 (HD)
Broadcaster: PBS

This fascinating series charts one of the great adventures in the history of science: the quest to understand what the world is made of. Dramatic re-enactments introduce us to extraordinary scientists and their work, from Priestley and Lavoisier's discovery of oxygen and Marie Curie's radioactivity research to Mendeleev's Periodic Table.

Solar Superstorms

The Amazing World of Gravity

Format: 1 x 90 / 2 x 45 (HD, 4K)
Broadcaster: BBC

A unique television event on the physics of gravity, featuring unexpected historical insights, cutting-edge science and exciting new experiments. We visit the LIGO lab in the USA where gravity waves were discovered, and describe the latest theories about our cosmos from studying the most intense sources of gravity imaginable – black holes.

The Secrets of Quantum Physics

Format: 2 x 59 (HD)
Broadcaster: BBC

Charismatic Professor Jim Al-Khalili tells the story of how quantum physics, which started as a simple observation about light bulbs, ended up helping us understand how all the galaxies, stars, planets and even us humans came to exist. Jim also explores how the new science of quantum biology can help to explain how and why life evolves.

Order and Disorder

Format: 2 x 59 (HD)
Broadcaster: BBC

The unstoppable Jim Al-Khalili reveals how humanity mastered the two most important concepts of the modern age – energy and information. He uncovers the principles underpinning the inner workings of the cosmos, from a living cell to a supernova, and shows how information went from scratchings on clay tablets to crossing the globe at the speed of light.

Everything and Nothing

Format: 2 x 59 (HD)
Broadcaster: BBC

A helter-skelter ride through some of the most exhilarating scientific and philosophical ideas of the human race. We discover what happened before the Big Bang, peer into the impossible centre of a black hole, find out how big the universe really is, and reveal why the vacuum cleaner is the most significant discovery in human history.

The Secret Life of Chaos

Format: 1 x 60 (HD)
Broadcaster: BBC

Chaos theory conjures up images of unpredictable weather, economic crashes, and science gone wrong. But in this breathtaking exploration, Professor Jim Al-Khalili discovers how it actually holds the answer to many mysteries, including the age-old question – how did we get here? You won't be able to look at the world in the same way again!

The Science of Bubbles

Format: 1 x 59 (HD)
Broadcaster: BBC

Fun physicist Dr Helen Czerski takes us on an amazing journey into the science of bubbles. From the way animals behave to the way drinks taste, Dr Czerski shows how bubbles affect our world in all sorts of unexpected ways. Whether it's the future of ship design or innovative new forms of medical treatment, bubbles play a vital role.

Oak Tree:
Nature’s Greatest Survivor

Format: 2 x 49 / 1 x 90 (HD)
Broadcaster: BBC

In this landmark, award-winning documentary, entomologist George McGavin takes us on a journey through a year in the life of a 400-year-old oak tree. The innovative film uncovers the highly varied and dramatic transformations that the tree goes through to meet the challenges of four very different seasons.

Unlocking Evolution

Format: 1 x 40

Scientific pioneer Allan Wilson revolutionised evolutionary theories and ignited fresh controversy by suggesting a much closer relationship between ape and man than was previously thought. This engaging film retraces his approach to one of the biggest questions in science: where do modern humans come from? Wilson found that the answers lie in the DNA of extinct creatures.

Snow Wars

Format: 1 x 44 (HD, 4K)
Broadcaster: ARTE, NDR

Year after year, there’s a war going on in the Canadian Rockies. On land and in the air, the mobile avalanche-control team do battle against the massive amounts of snow. For the first time ever, Snow Wars exclusively features the brave men and women who risk their lives to protect others in one of the snowiest places in the world: British Columbia.

Darwin’s Beagle:
On the Future of Species

Format: 8 x 53 (HD)
Broadcaster: VPRO

In 1831, Darwin set sail on the most important journey ever made. Now his great-great-granddaughter Sarah Darwin and other eminent scientists repeat his epic journey. From Brazil to Galapagos to Australia, we explore how this voyage changed our understanding of science forever.

Oak Tree: Nature’s Greatest Survivor

Deepwater Horizon:
Dispatches from the Gulf

Format: 2 x 57 (HD)
Broadcaster: PBS

Narrated by Matt Damon, this two-part special investigates the remarkable stories of the global team of scientists studying the 2010 Deepwater Horizon oil spill — the largest in U.S. history. Their mission to research its environmental impacts and prevent the devastation of future oil spills has led to surprising discoveries.

Plan B: Mobilising to Save Civilisation

Format: 1 x 87 (HD)
Broadcaster: PBS

Narrated by Matt Damon and inspired by the book by Lester Brown, this film provides insight into an emerging economy based on renewable sources. Showcasing realistic strategies to avoid the growing threat of global warming, it features some of the world’s most original and influential thinkers.

Earth in 1000 Years

Format: 1 x 46 (HD)

This eye-opening documentary explores the latest scientific and technological developments in the study of earth’s melting ice stores to discover the fate of our planet in 1000 years time. As scientists drill into seabeds across Greenland and Antarctica and conduct radar flights and satellite expeditions, we discover the stark reality of what climate change could mean for life as we know it.

Extreme Realities

Format: 1 x 54 (HD)
Broadcaster: PBS

Narrated by Matt Damon, Extreme Realities shows us how unprecedented extreme weather events spark and aggravate political unrest and are posing new threats to global security. With exclusive access to international scientific experts and politicians, this film presents a vital new perspective on the untold effects of climate change.

Journey to Planet Earth, Series 1 & 2

Format: S1 3 x 55, S2 4 x 55
Broadcaster: PBS

Series 1 of this award-winning environmental franchise explores threats facing those dependent on the health of major river systems and the dilemma of sustaining both urban populations and the environment. Series 2 transcends political boundaries to reveal threats to vital grassland and expose links between environmental change and human health.

Supertornado: Anatomy of a Megadisaster

Format: 1 x 44 (HD)

May 22, 2011, the costliest tornado in U.S history struck Missouri carving a mile-wide swathe of destruction. Scientists descended on the city to find out what made this tornado so destructive. Discover what they learned about a rising threat to the American heartland and follow the victims as they pick up the pieces and struggle to make sense of it all.

The State of the Planet

Format: 1 x 55
Broadcaster: PBS

The State of the Planet is the first of a series of environmental specials which investigate some of the most critical questions of the century, such as: Are populations soaring out of control? Will there be enough water and food for future generations? And is global warming a false alarm, or a gathering storm?

The State of the Planet’s Ocean Animals

Format: 1 x 55
Broadcaster: PBS

Join Hollywood actor Matt Damon as he finds out why nearly half the world’s marine animals may face extinction over the next twenty-five years. Damon’s dramatic journey takes us to the Pacific Northwest, New England, Florida, Japan, China, the Antarctic and Africa.

Planet RE:think

Format: 1 x 56 / 1 x 85 (HD)

An environmental documentary with a difference, Planet RE:think presents a compelling, inherent link between environmental destruction and the global financial crisis and asserts that the only way into ongoing economic stability, is actually through the practices of environmental sustainability. It’s time to increase our resource efficiency and the re-use and recycling of critical materials, before it’s too late.

The State of the Planet’s Oceans

Format: 1 x 57
Broadcaster: PBS

The most recent installment of the award-winning Journey to Planet Earth series. From the glacier melt in Greenland to the loss of sea ice in the Arctic and the success of marine preserves in Florida Keys, it investigates a wide range of issues concerning the health and sustainability of the world’s oceans.

The State of the Planet’s Wildlife

Format: 1 x 57
Broadcaster: PBS

Hosted and narrated by Academy Award winner Matt Damon, The State of the Planet’s Wildlife looks into why half of the world’s wildlife species are facing extinction within the next few decades. The documentary includes spectacular wildlife photography, celebrating the beauty and diversity of the natural world.

One Degree Matters

Format: 1 x 57 (HD)

Presenting the latest science on climate change, this informative and inspirational new film showcases realistic solutions and amazing examples of individuals and communities tackling global warming. The film follows a group of influential international business and government leaders as they travel to the Arctic to witness climate change at first hand.

Earth's Survival:
Decoding the Science

Format: 1 x 52 / 2 x 29 (HD)
Broadcaster: WDR, SRF

Made in consultation with the IPCC and world leading climate scientists, this groundbreaking documentary explains the big headlines addressed by the Fifth Assessment Report, and how we may be in the middle of the most crucial moment of Earth's history.

The Tipping Points

Format: 6 x 52 / 6 x 30 / 1 x 90 (HD)
Broadcaster: The Weather Channel, WDR, ARTE

The emerging crises of climate change are drawing major concern from scientific communities worldwide. A group of pre-eminent scientists ventures off the grid, from the Amazon Rainforest to the Greenland Ice Sheet, to explore the perilous tipping points making our weather systems more extreme and unpredictable.

The Polar Explorer

Format: 1 x 52 (HD)
Broadcaster: CBC

This documentary explores the most remote and mysterious parts of our planet: the Polar Regions. Featuring the world's foremost polar scientists and discovering previously inaccessible areas and new life on the ocean seabed, this award-winning film showcases the latest climate change discoveries from the Arctic and Antarctic.

Don't Panic - The Truth
About Population

Format: 1 x 59 (HD)
Broadcaster: BBC

Using state-of-the-art 3D graphics, world-famous statistician Professor Hans Rosling presents a spectacular portrait of our rapidly changing world. Rosling's message is surprisingly upbeat. Almost unnoticed, we have begun to conquer the problems of rapid population growth and extreme poverty.

Don't Panic - The Truth About Population

e² intervention architecture

Format: 1 x 56 (HD)
Broadcaster: PBS

Narrated by Brad Pitt, this e² special explores architecture that creates positive change economically, environmentally and culturally. It traverses the globe tracing the diverse projects put forward for The Aga Khan Architectural Award, from a wetlands restoration project in Saudi Arabia to a Bridge School reconnecting the community in Xiashi, China.

e² transport

Format: 6 x 26 (HD)
Broadcaster: PBS

The biggest culprit in terms of sustainability in transport is the car. With people and goods travelling further and more frequently than ever before, a globally-minded citizenry is needed to address the environmental consequences. e² transport investigates this in the context of human behaviour and urbanisation. Narrated by Brad Pitt.

e² energy

Format: 6 x 26 (HD)
Broadcaster: PBS

e² energy investigates innovations in alternative energy technologies, such as solar, sea, wind and hydro power. Narrated by Academy Award winning actor Morgan Freeman, the series demonstrates how despite predictions to the contrary, the global economy can not only survive but in fact prosper in a new environmentally aware age.

e² design, Series 1-3

Format: 18 x 26 (HD)
Broadcaster: PBS

Narrated by Golden Globe and Academy Award winner Brad Pitt, e² design explores the complex social, political, cultural, environmental and economic issues of sustainable architecture. Traversing the globe, the series chronicles the most important and exciting stories of green architecture made reality.

Oceanic Electric Power

Format: 1 x 52

Broadcasters: ZDF, ARTE

A groundbreaking documentary which explains with scientific precision the vision of supplying our ever-growing electricity needs with the energy of the seas. New technologies are shot in locations around the world and viewers are introduced to the personal dramas of the pioneers making these new ideas into a sustainable reality.

Before the Flood

Format: 1 x 60

Broadcaster: BBC

Tuvalu is a tiny island in the middle of the South Pacific. Once the world's poorest country, it sold its internet domain name – .tv – for millions of dollars at the height of the dot com boom. But Tuvalu is only 3 metres above sea level and global warming is causing the seas to rise. This film looks at the impact of the impending disaster.

Antarctica: Ice World Pioneers

Format: 1 x 56

Broadcaster: SABC

The epic tale of perseverance and achievement shown by the team that conceived and built the most advanced science research facility on the Antarctic continent. It is a compelling mixture of hardship and happiness, failure and victory, and the tragedy of those who paid the ultimate price while working in this merciless wasteland.

The New Power

Format: 1 x 52

Broadcasters: ZDF, ARTE

Internationally recognised scientist Martin Kilpper and Alternative Nobel Prize winner Hermann Scheer take viewers on a unique trip through Europe, drawing an accurate picture of the surprising and encouraging potential of renewable energy sources such as biomass, wind, geothermal, water and sun.

Antarctica: The Game on Ice

Format: 1 x 42

Made at the time of the renegotiation of the Antarctic Treaty, this investigative documentary examines what is really going on in the frozen continent. Unlike previous programmes, most of which have been concerned with the Antarctic environment, this film focuses on the scientific research being carried out by specific nations on the ground in Antarctica.

Arctic Meltdown

Format: 1 x 32

According to the world's scientists, sea level rise is arguably one of the world's most important potential impacts of global climate change. In this revealing documentary, the issue of climate change is investigated from the perspective of two of the most remote and environmentally threatened regions of the world – the Marshall Islands and the Arctic.

Man Versus Earth

Format: 1 x 46 (HD)
Broadcaster: Current TV

As extreme winter weather brings Europe and the United States to a standstill, can mankind fight back through science and technology? Eco-explorer Sam Branson meets the people on the front line of the battle between man and snow. A dramatic mix of science and adventure that is guaranteed to have you on the edge of your seat.

Great Minds of Design

Format: 6 x 23 (HD)
Broadcaster: CBC

Shot in the USA, Canada, Germany and Haiti, this stunning new series introduces the visionary people behind both everyday objects and new ambitious ideas, following a wide variety of designers through their unique processes of creation. Great Minds of Design features everyone from street artists to green conscious industrial designers.

The Sinking of Scylla

Format: 1 x 55
Broadcaster: BBC

On 27th March 2004, the seabed off south-east Cornwall in the UK changed forever: After many years of planning, the National Marine Aquarium realised their dream to turn an ex-Royal Navy warship into northern Europe's first diving reef. The Sinking of Scylla documents their exciting and unique endeavor and their triumph.

Greatest Inventors

Format: 2 x 30

Planes, trains and penicillin; plastics, lasers, computers and the internet – collectively, they stand as the greatest set of innovations to grace the last hundred years, fundamentally improving how we communicate, travel, heal and explore our world. Greatest Inventors profiles the amazing geniuses who produced these and other remarkable inventions.

How Did They Build That?

Format: 13 x 25
Broadcaster: Discovery Channel

An investigation into the greatest man-made structures of all time, showing how new materials and construction techniques have allowed engineers, builders and architects to work to the limits of their ability. The series focuses on the buildings that re-wrote the rulebook and the people who made the impossible possible.

How Ships Grow

Format: 1 x 60

Nowadays, ship extensions are a popular procedure. But it's not a simple process! This dramatic programme follows shipbuilders and engineers as they separate ships in two to make even bigger vessels. All odds are against them as thousands of electric cables and pipes are severed, with the job demanding precision engineering and attention to even the tiniest details.

The Fantastical World of Hormones

Format: 1 x 58 (HD)
Broadcaster: BBC

Leading endocrinologist Professor John Wass tells the fascinating story of hormones – the well-known but little-understood chemicals that govern our bodies and shape who we are. From our weight and appetite to how we grow, reproduce and behave hormones are a crucial part of what makes us human.

Parkinson's: The Great Drug Experiment

Format: 1 x 45
Broadcaster: TV3

Parkinson's disease affects around 13 million people worldwide. This documentary follows a group of patients as they test a promising new drug meant to slow the progression of the disease. Featuring leading neurologists and professors, it explains the science behind the trial.

MS Wars: Hope, Science and the Internet

Format: 1 x 50 (HD)
Broadcaster: CBC

Delving into the science, controversy and human drama surrounding a radical treatment for Multiple Sclerosis, this intriguing new film unveils how the Internet has spurred a social network movement that is changing the doctor/patient relationship and the repercussions for physicians, institutions and us all.

More and more doctors worldwide are now advising their patients to set their repulsion aside in order to see these creatures for what they really are – a wonder of nature, and the perfect healers.

Autopsy: Life and Death

Format: 4 x 48
Broadcaster: Channel 4

Why do some people live long, healthy lives, while others die younger after painful illnesses? This series explores the reality of disease and death, answering the crucial questions through a series of dissections by anatomist Dr Gunther von Hagens. The experts also demonstrate what can be done to detect disease and improve health.

Gunther's ER

Format: 3 x 48
Broadcaster: Channel 4

In the acclaimed follow-up series to Autopsy: Life and Death, Dr Gunther von Hagens recreates serious injuries on human bodies to reveal what happens to the body when faced with assaults or accidents and to show what doctors, nurses and first-aiders can do, working against the clock, to try to preserve life.

Breaking the Code

Format: 1 x 45
Broadcaster: TLC

This programme tells the dramatic story of the challenge to map and decode every gene in the human body and what this means for the future of modern day medicine. With new cures being discovered every day, sufferers from deadly diseases race against the clock and fight to stay alive until the right cures are found.

Patent on Life

Format: 1 x 38
Broadcaster: Channel 4

The process of genetic engineering is becoming more and more sophisticated, and the inventors of new plants, new drugs and new life-forms are now attempting to patent their creations. Patent on Life explores how these patents, if successful, could lead to large multinational corporations owning the world's crops.

Cold Fusion: The Truth?

Format: 1 x 52 / 1 x 83 (HD)

March 1989: two respected chemists claim they have solved the globe's energy crisis using seawater, batteries and a mysterious glass contraption: 'Cold Fusion' is born. But just three months later, careers in tatters, they flee the US as Cold Fusion becomes synonymous with 'bad science.' Today a group of researchers believe that Cold Fusion could still save the world...

Sacred Weeds

Why Men Pay for It

Format: 1 x 52
Broadcaster: SBS

Often when the question of prostitution is looked at, the clients who generate the business remain invisible. Why Men Pay For It breaks through this barrier, asking: Who are these men, and why do they do it? A layered film which enters into an intimate conversation with a group of men whose candour is, at times, breathtaking.

Favourite Body Parts

Format: 1 x 43
Broadcaster: TVNZ

Favourite Body Parts is a celebration of what we find attractive about each other. It uncovers the truth about our erogenous zones and explores the reasons behind our fascination with certain favourite body parts. Plastic surgeons, painters, fashion designers and sex toy sellers all reveal what part of the body does it for them and why.

The Madam

Notes

TVF International's specialist and consultative approach distinguishes us as the leading independent factual distributor in the UK.

Our catalogue encompasses everything from factual entertainment and lifestyle series to exceptional one-off documentaries, representing some of the most innovative and creative producers from across the globe.

The TVF team is energetic and vibrant, with over ten languages spoken across Sales and Acquisitions. Both divisions work within their own specific territories to maintain a highly specialised knowledge of the global content market.

Alongside the distribution of completed programming, we operate extensively with pre-sales, co-productions and formats.

We have a strong presence on the international festival circuit, attending all major markets and events, and our team regularly offers their expertise on panels.

TVF International is part of the TVF Media group, operating in television, digital and multiplatform production.
